

Description of iLSD: the Italian Legislative Speeches DataSet (up to 2016)

A project by Luigi Curini, Paolo Martelli and Andrea Ceron

Units: Parliamentary parties and cabinets

Number of parties: 63 (plus each cabinet). We considered only parties with at least 4 MPs in the Chamber of Deputies (Camera dei Deputati), with the exception of Liga Veneta during the Ninth Legislature, Lega Lombarda/Lega Nord during the Tenth Legislature, NPSI (New Italian Socialist Party) during the Fourteenth Legislature

Number of cabinet considered: 74 (including six non-investiture speeches: the speeches by Prodi during the Thirteenth and the Fifteenth Legislature in which, in both cases, the incumbent cabinet led by Prodi failed a vote of confidence; two speeches by Berlusconi in September and December 2010 and those by Letta I and II in October and December 2013 that did not fail the confidence vote)

Time period covered: all investiture debates between 1946 and 2016 held at the Chamber of Deputies with the exception of the first and fifth Andreotti governments, the Letta I non-investiture speech and the Renzi I investiture speech, when we analyze speeches from the Senate. During the 17th Legislature we report the number of seats in the House and in the Senate.

Number of cases: 752; including 74 cabinet speeches and 22 estimated legislative speech data (Speechtype = 2). In four cases we observe government formation as a result of a cabinet reshuffle in party composition, without a formal resignation (and therefore without a new investiture or confidence debate). In these cases the 36 party legislative speech data refers to the one of the previous government (Speechtype = 3).

Number of variables: 2 identification variables, 6 electoral data variables, 68 programmatic data variables, 8 policy dimensions.

Data sources: Publicly available election and parliamentary statistics and content analyzed legislative speeches (<http://legislature.camera.it/>).

Variables in the dataset

Legislature: Legislature to which the investiture debates refer to

Years_Legislature: years of the Legislature

Edate: Month and year of the formal nomination of a cabinet or of a cabinet reshuffle in party composition. Source up to 1996: Woldendorp, J., Keman, H. & Budge, I. (2000). Party Government in 48 Democracies. London: Kluwer Academic Publishers republic: First or Second Republic investiture_speech: cabinet-ID excluding non-investiture speeches and cabinet reshuffle government_id: cabinet-ID including cabinet reshuffle government_all: cabinet-ID including non-investiture speeches and cabinet reshuffle

Pervote: Percentage of votes gained by each party.

Voteest: Election statistics often assign votes to electoral coalitions as a whole and do not distinguish between component members. Votes for parties in electoral coalitions and splinter groups have been estimated on the basis of the distribution of seats between them (0 = original figure from data source; 1 = estimated).

Seats: Absolute number of seats held by each party. We assigned the votes of excluded parties (see above) by proximity to a major party. Source up to 1994: Curini, L. & Martelli, P. (2009). I partiti della Prima Repubblica. Governi e maggioranze dalla Costituente a Tangentopoli. Roma: Carocci).

Totseats: Total number of seats in the Chamber of Deputies Seats_senate: Absolute number of seats held by each party in the Senate (17th Legislature only).

Totseats_senate: Total number of seats in the Senate (17th Legislature only).

Speechtype: 1 = Legislative speech of a single party. 2 = Missing legislative speeches have been estimated either by computing the average of the legislative speeches for that party during a given Legislature or by duplicating the previous or the following legislative speech data available. 3 = In case of a cabinet reshuffle in party composition, the party legislative speech data refers to the one of the previous government.

Gov_memb: 1 = Parties in Cabinet. 0 = Parties not in Cabinet

External_sup: 1 = Parties that casted a positive vote of confidence for the government (excluding parties in Cabinet. Cabinet parties always cast a positive vote of confidence). 0 = Parties that casted a negative vote of confidence or abstained Abstention: 1 = Parties that abstained during the vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies. 0 = All other parties.

Opposition: 1 Parties that casted a negative vote of confidence for the government. 0 = All other parties.

The categories employed

Data Entries: Percentages of sixty-eight categories grouped into eight major policy areas. Because of the different length of each speech, the number of quasi-sentences in each category is standardized taking the total number of quasi-sentences in the respective speech as a base. In the data set each of these categories is a variable that represents the percentage.
